W.P.(C) NO. 29628 OF 2006-B

Dated this the 5th day of January, 2007

JUDGMENT

The petitioner claims to be a social worker taking active interest in the happenings around him. According to him, against the 5th respondent, one Bindu – a minor girl, who was being brought up by the 5th respondent, her foster father, had made certain complaints. The District Collector had, on coming to know of the said complaint, wanted the police to take necessary action. The police had got the girl examined by a medical practitioner. Thereafter, the girl was sent to 'Abhaya Centre' – a home of destitute women.

2. Airing the grievance that no proper action has been taken by the police and the authorities, the petitioner had submitted a complaint before the Chief Minister of Kerala. The petitioner has come to this Court with the grievance that no proper action has been taken in the matter by the officials/ the respondents.

3. The 4th respondent – Sub Inspector of Police, has filed a statement. I have perused the statement. It shows that though the needful was done, there was no indication of any cognizable offence having been committed against the alleged victim girl by name Bindu. Her statement was recorded by the Kerala Women Commission and in that statement also she had asserted that no offence had been committed against her. It is, in these circumstances, that no further action was taken by the police, it is reported by the 4th respondent. A copy of the report has been furnished to the learned counsel for the petitioner. It is clear and it is conceded that, in the light of the events which have taken place, no further directions are necessary and this writ petition can be dismissed as unnecessary now.

4. This writ petition is, accordingly, dismissed.
